FATHER GERHARDT URGES DISARMING AT LEGION MEET

ATTY. JAS. MCGILLEN GIVES SPLENDID PATRIOTIC ADDRESS AT ARMORY IN ARMISTICE DAY CELEBRATION

Speaking before a crowd of about three hundred people at the Armory at the Armistice Day observance of the Charles Hagerstrom Post No. 9 American Legion last night, Rev. August Gerhardt, state chaplain of the American Legion, declared himself for success in the disarmament conference just opened in Washington. Father Gerhardt wore the uniform of Army Chaplain. He gave a very forcible appeal for the use of the ballot as a means of registering the will of the people and urged that each person do his duty by voting and seeing that his representatives carried out the will of the people.

Regrets Disinterest

Father Gerhardt said that less than half of the people expressed their will in the last national election and that a nation which was to accomplish the strength of leadership of the world in matters of peace and right could not hope to keep in the lead unless all the people regiseirtered their will through the ballots. The speaker was greatly impressed with the President's message at the grave of the Unknown soldier, who was honored yesterday, in which the chief executive had expressed his hate for warfare. In this expression, Father Gerhardt felt a great hope for the salvaging of civilization from the misery of war. He read a section of the President's address. Father Gerhardt urged his audience to work for the fruits of victory which the end of war had brought to the world by making the world safe from new wars, with all the suffering, extravagance and misery which warfare brings.

Attorney Jas. McGillen of Green Bay, former Naval Officer was the second speaker on the program. He spoke with great feeling about the service and analyzed the feeling which gripped the men who felt their duty to serve their nation in times of war. "The burial of the unknown dead, typifies many things to America," Mr. McGillen stated. He showed how it meant a great consolation to the mothers, fathers and families of all the unknown dead who might believe that their own dear ones had been found to have the burial with such tremendos honors at the hands of the nation. He said it typified much to the soldier in the trench who had seen his pals go under fire, to the navy men whose own men went to the bottom of the sea.

Would Follow Again

Mr. McGillen recalled the history of the United States since the civil war and pointed with pride to the honesty and generosity of the U. S. government in treating with the vanquished Spanish foe, how the Cubans had been given their freedom, how the Philippines had been paid for and how after all indemnities were paid from the Boxer uprising, a huge sum of money was returned to China for educational purposes. He lauded the United States for its honor in dealing with all other peoples and stated that if again the United States needed his services he would follow the flag to the end, believing in the good judgthe manhood of this country in declaring a war for right.

A quartet composed of John Roberts, W. J. Taylor, Jas. Jenkins, and Rev. N. J. Breed accompanied by Mrs. E. B. Redford rendered patriotic vocal selections. A large bouquet of chrysanthemums, a gift to the Legion from the First National Bank was sent to the Riverview hospital by the Legion. Following the program dancing was enjoyed.

BELIEVE STILL HOPE FOR IRISH SETTLEMENT

(By Associated Press)

London, Nov. 12—Although one or two newspapers express grave disappointment at the Ulster cabinet's rejection of the government plan for settlement of the Irish question, the London press generally sees no reason to regard the situation as more serious or the hope for settlement lessened.

The Times looks upon the Ulster decision to make counter proposals as a step forward and the Westminster Gazette says it is proof that the Ulsterites will continue negotiations.

HOWARD VAN LEAR GIVES ADDRESS AT WAR VETERANS MEET

Howard Van Lear, son of the former mayor of Minneapolis, addressed the Armistice day meeting of the local post of the World War Veterans at Princess hall last night. W. G. Heidenberg, national secretary of the organization, who was scheduled to make the address, was unable to be present, because of the fact that the national president and other officers were attending the burial of the unknown soldier at Washington.

Mr. Van Lear gave a thorough discussion of the Disarmament situation, demonstrating the need for disarmament both as a means toward insuring peace, and as a measure of economy.

The meeting was president over by John Rebenstorf, head of the local post, who read a proclamation for the unknown soldier, buried at Washington.

Following the patriotic Armistice Day program there was a dance, attended by a large crowd.

CARL BRANDT, MANAGER OF WEST SIDE MARKET

Carl Brandt, son of John H. Brandt, has been named manager of Mr. Brandt's new west side meat market, which was opened to the public this morning. The new store, a model in meat markets, white throughout, is a splendid addition to the business district of the city. All new equipment throughout has been installed. Mr. Brandt was personally present to welcome the customers at the new store this morning. Among the features of the new store is a new glass display counter, showing many fine cuts of meats, fresh vegetable racks and attractive windows displaying meats and fresh vegetables.

Mr. Brandt announced the appointment of his brother, Charles W. Brandt as manager of the east side store, while he will divide his time between both stores.

The clerical force at the west side store besides the manager, includes Charles Brandt Sr., Fred Hill, George Meyers, Francis Wolff, all of whom were at the cutting blocks to serve the local trade this morning. Mrs. H. M. Vollert is cashier at the new store.

MANY LOCAL PEOPLE GO TO MARSHFIELD GAME

Wisconsin Rapids sent many carloads of rooters to the game at Marshfield. Among those who were at the game were: C. F. Kellogg, Mayor C. E. Briere, D. D. Conway and family, Mrs. Kate Fisher and Mr. and Mrs. E. M. Hill, G. D. Fritzsinger, Isaac P. Witter, E. B. Redford, W. J. Taylor, P. C. Baly, Mr. and Mrs. Ray Love and Mr. and Mrs. Chester Gross, Mr. and Mrs. T. Mullen, Mr. and Mrs. J. B. Arpin, E. P. Arpin, Rev. N. J. Breed, Ward Johnson, O. R. Roenius, G. F. LaBour, Stanley Clapp, J. F. Schnabel, Will Burchell, R. J. Mott, George Bankert and many others.

The high school pupils formed many motor parties attending the game in large numbers. The team was taken in cars from the Isaac P. Witter residence where they had luncheon, direct to Marshfield.

GUN CLUB MEMBERS SHOOT FOR PRIZES

Dr. O. N. Mortensen and Atty. J. J. Jeffrey of this city are the donors of two fine prizes to the Wisconsin Rapids Gun Club which will be hung up for the Thanksgiving Day shoot at the gun club range on South Side road Thanksgiving morning.

The first prize is an attractive silver loving club, the gift of Dr. Mortensen and the second prize will be a twenty pound turkey which Mr. Jeffrey will give. These trophies will be displayed at the Daly Music Co. and the west side New Meat Market. Both of the donors say they will not be candidates for either first or second prize, ruling themselves ineligible.

BORAH ASSAILS SECRET TREATIES

MOURNING SCENES A MASQUERADE. SENATOR SAYS, IF SECRET DIPLOMACY CONTINUES

Schenectady, N. Y., Nov. 12—Mourning scenes yesterday at the burial of America's "unknown" hero will be a "masquerade" if secret diplomacy and armament competition are to continue, Senator Borah, of Idaho, declared tonight in an address here.

Open decisions and final discussion and action in the armament limitation conference were demanded by Senator Borah.

"No one would deny the right of representatives of nations," he said, "to meet in private, in secrecy if they chose, and there discuss preliminary matters and initiate their proposals. But we do urge that before any proposition, any proposed agreement, or understanding, is consummated, or closed, it shall be given to the public and that its final consideration and discussion by the Conference shall be in the open and its ultimate adoption be in public."

Taking America's "unknown" as his text, Senator Borah said he was "the man who won the war."

Scathes Closed Doors

"The 'unknown soldier' was not only unknown in the war but he was unknown in all the proceedings, all the intrigue or understandings or policies, which first brought on the war and into which this nation was finally drawn," the Senator said in prefacing his plea for open decisions at the Washington conference.

"Behind closed doors," Mr. Borah continued, "the unknown's life was treated as a miserable inanimate thing, a mere cog in the intricate and remorseless machine of modern diplomacy.

"If a few men in secret," he added, "arrive at understandings and agreements, which, either legally or morally, bind a whole people, then we are under the control and are the mere playthings of an intolerable and unconscionable autocracy. We will never get rid of war until we get rid of that practice. The spider of intrigue weaves only in the dark.

Must Consider "Unknown"

But I believe the 'unknown soldier' will not be unknown nor unconsidered in the future. The most conclusive lesson of the war is that the questions of peace or of war should be taken out of the hands of the few and placed under the eye and supervision of those upon whom the fearful sacrifices fall when war comes. This may not be accomplished in a day, for the old practices, or customs, while no longer openly defended, are now being protected through duplicity. But we are to have peace, if we are to protect the lives and fortunes of ourselves and our children, this change will have to come."

OLD STEVENS POINT RESIDENT DEAD AT HOME OF NIECE HERE

Mrs. William Walton, who has been residing at the home of her niece, Mrs. E. S. Renne, 975 Baker street, passed away Friday morning at the Renne home, after a lingering attack of heart disease. Mrs. Walton was eighty-five years of age September 22.

Short funeral services will be held Monday noon at the Renne residence here, conducted by the Rev. Johannes Rockstroh, pastor of St. John's Episcopal church, after which the body will be taken to Stevens Point, Mrs. Walton's old home, for burial in the Forest cemetery there. Services at Stevens Point will be held at two o'clock at the Church of the Intercession, the Rev. E. Croft Gear officiating.

Mrs. Walton leaves six nieces, five of whom have been with her the past two weeks. Mrs. Baldwin of McVille, N. D., was unable to come. Miss Cornelia Copp of North East, Pa., has been at the Renne home about three weeks. Those who will go to Stevens Point for the funeral are: Mrs. E. S. Renne, Mrs. Cornelia Wallace, Iroquois, S. D.; and Mrs. Hattie Jacobson and Mrs. Frances Hayden of Stevensville, Mont.

HOLD HEARINGS FOR RHINELANDER SHERIFF

Madison, Wis., Nov. 12.—Hearing on the complaint filed with Governor Blaine against Sheriff Hans Rodd for disobeying the Governor's pardon order for release of Peter Christ from the Rhinelander jail, will be held Monday morning in the executive office.

Governor Blaine will determine whether or not the action of the sheriff was sufficient cause for removal from office. It is believed here that the officer will be relieved of his duties as a result of his refusal to obey the executive pardon order.

Petitions have been presented by organizations in Rhinelander asking that the governor retain Sheriff Rodd in his present position. The Sheriff became involved in the controversy with the governor when he obeyed instructions from Judge A. H. Reid of Wausau, telling him that the governor had no authority to pardon Christ, who was sentenced for criminal contempt of court.

HOLD LAST MEETINGS OF GOOD SCHOOLS CAMPAIGN

With the exception of four meetings in the town of Port Edwards, which were postponed on account of the lecture by Mrs. Fetherstone at Nekoosa, the Wood county campaign for better schools was completed last night. Meetings in the towns of Saratoga, Seneca, and Grand Rapids were addressed by educators and business men, and big meetings with live interest were reported in every case.

The Wood County Training school, which largely sponsored the campaign, is preparing a summary of the results accomplished which will be made public very shortly.

JOB CONDITIONS BETTER IN STATE

INDUSTRIAL COMMISSION REPORT SHOWS AN IMPROVEMENT OF 6.5 PER CENT SINCE LAST JUNE

Madison, Nov. 12—Employment conditions in Wisconsin industries have shown an improvement of 6.5 per cent since June, the industrial commission reports today in its monthly summary of the state labor market. The number of employes increased 1 per cent during October with a raise of 1.1 per cent in total wages paid, and practically no change in the average weekly earnings of factory employes.

Labor market reports of the industrial commission are based on an analysis of the returns of 211 establishments with 58,400 employes, or about one-third of the factory workers of the state now employed. The weekly payroll of these factories totals $1,270,000.

Steady Increase

"For the past four months, each month has shown an increase in the number of employes, so that the total now is 6.5 per cent greater than it was in June," the commission says. "The only industries that have not shown some recovery are mining, machinery manufacture, sawmills and planing mills, milk products and laundries."

As compared with July a year ago, the commission reports that the number of employes is 34.2 per cent smaller, total wages paid is 48.5 per cent less and average weekly earnings 21.7 per cent lower.

The average weekly earnings for all industries were $21.72 which is three cents more than the previous month. This is $8.12 less than the peak reached in August, 1920, the report states, and represents a reduction of 27.2 per cent. The total factory payroll of the state is now said to be 52 per cent less than it was in August 1920, representing the loss in wages due to unemployment as well as wage cuts and part time employment.

H. C. of L. Down

Cost of living on October 1, was seven-tenths of one per cent less than it was on September 1, 1921. The decline since the peak of prices which was recorded on July 1, 1920 is 20 per cent.

Increase in the number employed as compared with the preceding months was well distributed, according to the commission which says, however, that decreases were shown in stone crushing, and quarrying, iron mining, machinery, automobiles and motorcycles, milk products and shipbuilding.

As compared with July of a year ago, only stone working, boots and shoes, hosiery and other knit goods, meat packing and light and power show an increase in the number of employes, although railroad repair shops, clothing and printing are practically the same. Mining metal industries, wood industries and milk products have been most seriously affected, it is said.

Mr. F. J. Fox has purchased the property at No. 1081 Washington avenue. The deal was closed through the Geo. W. Lyons Agency.

Harding's Welcome To Arms Delegates

Mr. Secretary and members of the Conference, ladies and gentlemen:

It is a great and happy privilege to bid the delegates to this conference a cordial welcome to the capitol of the United States of America. It is not only a satisfaction to greet you because we were lately participants in a common cause, in which shared sacrifices and sorrows and triumphs brought our nations more closely together but it is gratifying to address you as the spokesmen for nations whose convictions and attending actions have so much to do with the weal or woe of all mankind.

It is not possible to over-appraise the importance of such a conference. It is no unseemly boast, no disparagement of other nations, which, though not represented, are held in highest respect, to declare that the conclusions of this body will have a signal influence on all human progress—on the fortunes of the world.

Call of the World

Here is greeting, I can well believe, which is in earnest of the awakened conscience of twentieth century civilization. It is not a convention of remorse, nor a mission of sorrow. It is not the conference of victors to define terms of settlement. Nor is it a council of nations seeking to remake mankind. It is rather a coming together from all parts of the earth to apply the better attributes of mankind to minimize the faults in our international relationships.

Speaking as official sponsor for the invitation, I think I may say the call is not of the United States of America alone, it is rather the spoken word of war-wearied world struggling for restoration, hungering and thirsting for better relationship, of humanity crying for relief and craving assurance of lasting peace.

Demand Inherent Right

It is easy to understand this world wide aspiration. The glory of triumphs the rejoicing in achievement, the love of liberty, the devotion to country, the pangs of sorrow, the burdens of debt, the desolation of ruin—all these are appraised alike in all lands. Here in the United States we are but freshly turned from the burial of an unknown American soldier, when a nation sorrowed while paying him tribute. Whether it was spoken or not, a hundred millions of our people were summarizing the inexcusable cause, the incalculable cost, the unspeakable sacrifices and the unutterable sorrows and there was the ever-impelling question: How can humanity justify or God forgive. Human hate demands we must tell; ambition and greed must be denied it. If misunderstanding must take the blame, then let us banish it and let understanding rule and make good will regnant everywhere. All of us demand liberty and justice. There can not be one without the other, and they must be held the unquestioned possession of all peoples. Inherent rights are of God, and the tragedies of the world originate in their attempted denial. The world today is infringing their enjoyment by arming to defend or deny, when simple comity calls for their recognition through common understanding.

World Asks Peace

Out of the cataclysm of the world war came new fellowships, new convictions, new aspirations. It is ours to make the best of them. A world staggering with debt seeks its burden lifted. Humanity which has been shocked by wanton destruction would minimize the agencies of that destruction. Contemplating the measureless cost of war and the continuing burden of armament, all thoughtful peoples wish for real limitation of armament and would like war outlawed. In soberest reflection of the world's hundreds of millions who pay in peace and die in war wish their statesmen to turn the expenditure for destruction into means of construction, aimed at a higher state for those who live and follow after.

It is not alone that the world cannot readjust itself and cast aside the excess burdens without relief from the leaders of men. War has grown progressively cruel and more destructive from the first recorded conflict to this pregnant day and the reverse order would more become our boasted civilization.

Sacrifice By All

Gentlemen of the conference, the United States welcomes you with unselfish hands. We harbor no fears; we have no sordid ends to serve; we suspect no enemy; we seek nothing which is anothers. We only wish to do with you that finer, nobler thing which no nation can do alone.

SCRAP BUILDING PLANS IS HUGHES RECOMMENDATION

ALSO SCRAP OLDER SHIPS AND BUILD NO MORE FOR TEN YEARS, AMERICA'S PROGRAM FOR CONFERENCE

(By Associated Press)

Washington, Nov. 12—The immediate abandonment by the great powers of all capital shipbuilding programs, and the scrapping of older war vessels was proposed by Secretary Hughes today at the opening session of the armaments conference as America's concrete program for the limitation of naval armaments.

Four general principles were laid down by Secretary Hughes as America's platform on the question of naval limitation.

1. All capital shipbuilding programs, actual or projected, should be abandoned.

2. Further reductions should be made through the scrapping of older ships.

3. That in general regard should be had to the existing naval strength of the powers concerned.

4. That capital ship tonnage should be used in measuring the strength of navies, and a proportionate allowance of auxilliary combat crafts should be prescribed.

$330,000,000 Sacrifice

This program, if carried out, would mean for the United States the scrapping of all capital ships under construction, fifteen in number, and also the scrapping of fifteen older battleships. Britain would stop construction on four new ships of the Hood type, and scrap all first line battleships up to the King George V. class. The United States is now just completing its 1916 program calling for ten battleships and six battle cruisers. Only one battleship of this program has been completed, while the others are all in various stages of construction. The scrapping of these ships now under construction will involve a cash loss of over $330,000,000, but the government is willing to take the loss in the interest of immediate limitation of armaments.

Ten Year Holiday

According to the American proposal submitted by Hughes there will be a complete naval holiday for ten years, during which time no capital ships will be laid down. A maximum replacement tonnage figure is set, providing eventually for 500,000 tons for the United States, 500,000 tons for Great Britain, and 300,0000 tons for Japan. It is also provided that capital ships may be replaced after twenty years, but not with ships of over 35,000 tons.

Harding Welcomes Delegates

The delegates gathered this morning in Continental Hall, where they assembled about the great "U" shaped table covered with green baize, prepared especially for the conference. President Harding, standing at one side, delivered his address of welcome to the delegates. Secretary Hughes, who was elected chairman of the conference, stood at the other side, the delegates being seated between. President Harding completed his address at 10:50 and the conference turned immediately to the presentation of the American program by Secretary Hughes.

The Conference adjourned shortly after noon to meet again Tuesday at 11 a. m.

HOLD HEARINGS FOR RHINELANDER SHERIFF

Madison, Wis., Nov. 12.—Hearing on the complaint filed with Governor Blaine against Sheriff Hans Rodd for disobeying the Governor's pardon order for release of Peter Christ from the Rhinelander jail, will be held Monday morning in the executive office.

Governor Blaine will determine whether or not the action of the sheriff was sufficient cause for removal from office. It is believed here that the officer will be relieved of his duties as a result of his refusal to obey the executive pardon order.

Petitions have been presented by organizations in Rhinelander asking that the governor retain Sheriff Rodd in his present position. The Sheriff became involved in the controversy with the governor when he obeyed instructions from Judge A. H. Reid of Wausau, telling him that the governor had no authority to pardon Christ, who was sentenced for criminal contempt of court.

HOLD LAST MEETINGS OF GOOD SCHOOLS CAMPAIGN

With the exception of four meetings in the town of Port Edwards, which were postponed on account of the lecture by Mrs. Fetherstone at Nekoosa, the Wood county campaign for better schools was completed last night. Meetings in the towns of Saratoga, Seneca, and Grand Rapids were addressed by educators and business men, and big meetings with live interest were reported in every case.

The Wood County Training school, which largely sponsored the campaign, is preparing a summary of the results accomplished which will be made public very shortly.

JOB CONDITIONS BETTER IN STATE

INDUSTRIAL COMMISSION REPORT SHOWS AN IMPROVEMENT OF 6.5 PER CENT SINCE LAST JUNE

Madison, Nov. 12—Employment conditions in Wisconsin industries have shown an improvement of 6.5 per cent since June, the industrial commission reports today in its monthly summary of the state labor market. The number of employes increased 1. per cent during October with a raise of 1.1 per cent in total wages paid, and practically no change in the average weekly earnings of factory employes.

Labor market reports of the industrial commission are based on an analysis of the returns of 211 establishments with 58,400 employes, or about one-third of the factory workers of the state now employed. The weekly payroll of these factories totals $1,270,000

"For the past four months, each month has shown an increase in the number of employes, so that the total now is 6.5 per cent greater than it was in June," the commission says. "The only industries that have not shown some recovery are mining, machinery manufacture, sawmills and planing mills, milk products and laundries."

As compared with July a year ago, the commission reports that the number of employes is 34.2 per cent smaller, total wages paid is 48.5 per cent less and average weekly earnings 21.7 per cent lower.

The average weekly earnings for all industries were $21.72 which is three cents more than the previous month. This is $8.12 less than the peak reached in August, 1920, the report states, and represents a reduction of 27.2 per cent. The total factory payroll of the state is now said to be 52 per cent less than it was in August 1920, representing the loss in wages due to unemployment as well as wage cuts and part time employment.

H. C. of L. Down

Cost of living on October 1, was seven-tenths of one per cent less than it was on September 1, 1921. The decline since the peak of prices which was recorded on July 1, 1920 is 20 per cent.

Increase in the number employed as compared with the preceding months was well distributed, according to the commission which says, however, that decreases were shown in stone crushing, and quarrying, iron mining, machinery, automobiles and motorcycles, milk products and shipbuilding.

As compared with July of a year ago, only stone working, boots and shoes, hosiery and other knit goods, meat packing and light and power show an increase in the number of employes, although railroad repair shops, clothing and printing are practically the same. Mining metal industries, wood industries and milk products have been most seriously affected, it is said.

Harding's Welcome To Arms Delegates

Mr. Secretary and members of the Conference, ladies and gentlemen:

It is a great and happy privilege to bid the delegates to this conference a cordial welcome to the capitol of the United States of America. It is not only a satisfaction to greet you because we were lately participants in a common cause, in which shared sacrifices and sorrows and triumphs brought our nations more closely together but it is gratifying to address you as the spokesmen for nations whose convictions and attending actions have so much to do with the weal or woe of all mankind.

It is not possible to over-appraise the importance of such a conference. It is no unseemly boast, no disparagement of other nations, which, though not represented, are held in highest respect, to declare that the conclusions of this body will have a signal influence on all human progress—on the fortunes of the world.

Call of the World

Here is greeting, I can well believe, which is in earnest of the awakened conscience of twentieth century civilization. It is not a convention of remorse, nor a mission of sorrow. It is not the conference of victors to define terms of settlement. Nor is it a council of nations seeking to remake mankind. It is rather a coming together from all parts of the earth to apply the better attributes of mankind to minimize the faults in our international relationships.

Speaking as official sponsor for the invitation, I think I may say the call is not of the United States of America alone, it is rather the spoken word of war-wearied world struggling for restoration, hungering and thirsting for better relationship, of humanity crying for relief and craving assurance of lasting peace.

Demand Inherent Right

It is easy to understand this world wide aspiration. The glory of triumphs the rejoicing in achievement, the love of liberty, the devotion to country, the pangs of sorrow, the burdens of debt, the desolation of ruin—all these are appraised alike in all lands. Here in the United States we are but freshly turned from the burial of an unknown American soldier, when a nation sorrowed while paying him tribute. Whether it was spoken or not, a hundred millions of our people were summarizing the inexcusable cause, the incalculable cost, the unspeakable sacrifices and the unutterable sorrows and there was the ever-impelling question: How can humanity justify or God forgive. Human hate demands we must tell; ambition and greed must be denied it. If misunderstanding must take the blame, then let us banish it and let understanding rule and make good will regnant everywhere. All of us demand liberty and justice. There can not be one without the other, and they must be held the unquestioned possession of all peoples. Inherent rights are of God, and the tragedies of the world originate in their attempted denial. The world today is infringing their enjoyment by arming to defend or deny, when simple comity calls for their recognition through common understanding.

World Asks Peace

Out of the cataclysm of the world war came new fellowships, new convictions, new aspirations. It is ours to make the best of them. A world staggering with debt seeks its burden lifted. Humanity which has been shocked by wanton destruction would minimize the agencies of that destruction. Contemplating the measureless cost of war and the continuing burden of armament, all thoughtful peoples wish for real limitation of armament and would like war outlawed. In soberest reflection of the world's hundreds of millions who pay in peace and die in war wish their statesmen to turn the expenditure for destruction into means of construction, aimed at a higher state for those who live and follow after.

It is not alone that the world cannot readjust itself and cast aside the excess burdens without relief from the leaders of men. War has grown progressively cruel and more destructive from the first recorded conflict to this pregnant day and the reverse order would more become our boasted civilization.

Sacrifice By All

Gentlemen of the conference, the United States welcomes you with unselfish hands. We harbor no fears; we have no sordid ends to serve; we suspect no enemy; we seek nothing which is anothers. We only wish to do with you that finer, nobler thing which no nation can do alone.

SCRAP BUILDING PLANS IS HUGHES RECOMMENDATION

ALSO SCRAP OLDER SHIPS AND BUILD NO MORE FOR TEN YEARS, AMERICA'S PROGRAM FOR CONFERENCE

(By Associated Press)

Washington, Nov. 12—The immediate abandonment by the great powers of all capital shipbuilding programs, and the scrapping of older war vessels was proposed by Secretary Hughes today at the opening session of the armaments conference as America's concrete program for the limitation of naval armaments.

Four general principles were laid down by Secretary Hughes as America's platform on the question of naval limitation.

1. All capital shipbuilding programs, actual or projected, should be abandoned.

2. Further reductions should be made through the scrapping of older ships.

3. That in general regard should be had to the existing naval strength of the powers concerned.

4. That capital ship tonnage should be used in measuring the strength of navies, and a proportionate allowance of auxiliary combat crafts should be prescribed.

$330,000,000 Sacrifice

This program, if carried out, would mean for the United States the scrapping of all capital ships under construction, fifteen in number, and also the scrapping of fifteen older battleships. Britain would stop construction of four new ships of the Hood type, and scrap all first line battleships up to the King George V. class. The United States is now just completing its 1916 program calling for ten battleships and six battle cruisers. Only one battleship of this program has been completed, while the others are all in various stages of construction. The scrapping of these ships now under construction will involve a cash loss of over $330,000,000, but the government is willing to take the loss in the interest of immediate limitation of armaments.

Ten Year Holiday

According to the American proposal submitted by Hughes there will be a complete naval holiday for ten years, during which time no capital ships will be laid down. A maximum replacement tonnage figure is set, providing eventually for 500,000 tons for the United States, 500,000 tons for Great Britain, and 300,0000 tons for Japan. It is also provided that capital ships may be replaced after twenty years, but not with ships of over 35,000 tons.

Harding Welcomes Delegates

The delegates gathered this morning in Continental Hall, where they assembled about the great "U" shaped table covered with green baize, prepared especially for the conference. President Harding, standing at one side, delivered his address of welcome to the delegates. Secretary Hughes, who was elected chairman of the conference, stood at the other side, the delegates being seated between. President Harding completed his address at 10:50 and the conference turned immediately to the presentation of the American program by Secretary Hughes.

The Conference adjourned shortly after noon to meet again Tuesday at 11 a. m.

GUARD SMALL INVESTORS

The meeting of the Investment Banker's Association at New Orleans heard some pertinent advise from two speakers who dealt with the problem of protecting the small investor from becoming the prey of swindlers. Stress was laid upon the awakening interest of the banks to this need and the effort being made to induce those with funds to invest to consult their local banks regarding the good faith of the enterprises under consideration.

If the public could be induced to follow this advise incalculable sums would be saved from "blue-sky" and "get-rich-quick" concerns. The interest of the investment bankers is especially to be enlisted, and it may be hoped the suggestion that the association name a committee to cope with the situation will be adopted. A thorough investigation of the field and judicious publicity educating the general public with the same zeal that those who prey upon the small investors exhibit, would save individuals enormous losses and at the same time promote intelligent and profitable investment.

ANOTHER NEW CHAMPION

The farmer who harbors a flock of hen boarders who go on strike when they have laid a setting of eggs will lay down his paper and polish up his specs for a second reading of the record of Lady Egg-A-Day, who has just rounded out a year with 343 eggs—and still laying. He may believe there are hens that can lay 342 eggs in a year and live, but he will want to read over at least a second time to check up possible mistakes due to uncertain sight or blurred spectacle lenses.

The difference between Lady Egg-A-Day, a beautiful specimen of Buff Orpington, and the hen boarder on the farm who lays about 75 eggs in a year is so monumental that every farmer has good reason to ask for a second reading. That difference represents an advance in poultry evolution largely through the patient labor of one whose work is not heard of outside technical quarters. The difference between this champion egg producer and high type commercial hens that produce from 150 to 180 a year—a mark that outclasses the average good hen—is less than in the case of the nondescript average hen of the average farm, but sufficient to emphasize her remarkable quality.

HOW THICKLY SETTLED?

A map showing the density of population the country over, based on figures available since the 1920 census, is interesting from many points of view. Those of us who think of all European countries as congested will be surprised to learn, for instance, that the average number of persons per square mile in the United States is 35.5, while in Sweden it is 38.8, and in Norway only 19.1. We have come to look on California as the end of the trail for all travelers westward; and still California has only from 18 to 45 persons to the square mile as compared to 400 and over who occupy this same area in New Jersey, Rhode Island and Massachussetts.

Rhode Island, the most thickly populated of our states with 566.4 persons to the square mile, is second only to England which with a population of 669.2 seems to be the most thickly populated country in the world. Massachusetts with 479.2 runs a poor second to Belgium which with 652.7 follows close on the heels of England in respect to population density.

At the other end of the scale we have Nevada to tell the world how to make a few people go a long way to cover the total area of that state. Of the 62 foreign countries in which population figures are available Arabia leads the world in being thinly populated of .7 per square mile.

On the whole the 1920 census gives indication that we have not strongly exerted ourselves in following Horace Greeley's suggestion to the young men of his day to go west. Missouri is the only state of the Mississippi River which put into the group of states having a population of more than 45 persons per square mile.

Of the growth of our population throughout the entire country the census gives report to the effect that we have grown from 25.6 persons per square mile in 1900 to 35.5 for the same area in 1920. In 1900 we had 25 acres per inhabitant, today we have only 18. Still our latest figures present nothing alarming. If we will make proper use of it, and distribute it properly, there is still enough land to go around.

THEN AND NOW

Frederic Harrison Englishman of letters, writes in a reminiscent vein on the joys of traveling when he was a young man. Since this man's early efforts to see something of the country in Europe date back to the middle of the last century, these reminiscences are interesting because they put side by side two entirely different modes of travel.

European provincialism and acquaintness are gone, Mr. Harrison tells us. In 1845 each Belgian town was unlike any other. Many of the little European towns visited were little changed from what they had been for three or four centuries before this Englishman saw them. They had an individuality. In Florence, Italy, the Arno River flowed beneath the same bridges as in Michelangelo's time.

Today all this is changed. Well appointed hotels all very much alike, modern styles of building, the one type but little different from the other, and all the rest of the standardized improvements have destroyed the essential characteristics which had clung to these little towns from the time of the Middle Ages. Fast and comfortable steamers take you by them, and trains almost as comfortable but faster than the steamers now rush you from one of these towns to the other so that there is little time for reflection and meditation and observing which in other days were the great delight of traveling.

There is, of course, another side to this story. At the age of 90 and in circumstances which even now permit his traveling in luxury Mr. Harrison is likely to overlook the fact that the very things of which he complains as being modern have made it possible for hundreds of people to travel as compared to a dozen who traveled 70 years ago. For our English critic this may not be a gain, but for the great number of people living now it is a most decided gain.

If our object is to keep the world very much as it always has been, if the past rather than the future is our chief consideration, then of course there is reason in this writer's melancholy message. But if our concern is the future, thn the more we travel the better; then everything that makes posible easy means of social intercourse between peoples is to our advantage. From a poetic point of view of love for the past, Mr. Harrison is right, and in a great measure he may still indulge in that kind of travel if he wishes. But from the point of view of social progress there can be no doubt that the express train has it on the stage coach.

A Colorado professor says gasoline can be distilled in enormous quantities from shale rock for 16 cents a gallon. All right, professor, go ahead. Who's hindering you?

AGAIN OPEN for BUSINESS

SATURDAY—NOVEMBER 12

The Farmer's Bargain Store which was destroyed by the burning of the F. S. Gill block, is again open for business in the building one door north of former location—in the building formerly occupied by the Sheboygan Dairy Products Co.

We have purchased an entire

and are prepared to offer this stock at the lowest prices in the city. To our friends and customers we extend a cordial invitation to look over our new stock.

FARMER'S BARGAIN STORE

Go-Getters Do The Business

While non-advertising merchants are sitting around on barrel heads discussing the gloomy outlook, go-getters in every line are selling enormous volume through advertising.

The go-getter is of a hardier brand than the man who thinks that he can get any price he asks for goods and has grown soft in a seller's market.

The go-getter does business on the theory of today. If he can sell a safety razor today at 75 cents which sold for $5 two years ago an dmake a reasonable profit, he does so and gives the public the benefit of his wise purchasing.

The big fellows of today were go-getters a few years ago. The big fellows of tomorrow will be the go-getters of today.

The go-getters of every town and city will be found among those who advertise in the daily newspapers—those who recognize the faithful service to the public builds up greatest prestige for the future.

These men were the go-getters of their day and all built their marvelous institutions through advertising and sound salesmanship. Put your Xmas suggestions on the market now.

For our English critic this may not be a gain, but for the great number of people living now it is a most decided gain.

If our object is to keep the world very much as it always has been, if the past rather than the future is our chief consideration, then of course there is reason in this writer's melancholy message. But if our concern is the future, then the more we travel the better; then everything that makes posible easy means of social intercourse between peoples is to our advantage. From a poetic point of view of love for the past, Mr. Harrison is right, and in a great measure he may still indulge in that kind of travel if he wishes. But from the point of view of social progress there can be no doubt that the express train has it on the stage coach.

AGAIN OPEN for BUSINESS

SATURDAY—NOVEMBER 12

The Farmer's Bargain Store which was destroyed by the burning of the F. S. Gill block, is again open for business in the building one door north of former location—in the building formerly occupied by the Sheboygan Dairy Products Co.

We have purchased an entire

and are prepared to offer this stock at the lowest prices in the city. To our friends and customers we extend a cordial invitation to look over our new stock.

FARMER'S BARGAIN STORE

Go-Getters Do The Business

While non-advertising merchants are sitting around on barrel heads discussing the gloomy outlook, go-getters in every line are selling enormous volume through advertising.

The go-getter is of a hardier brand than the man who thinks that he can get any price he asks for goods and has grown soft in a seller's market.

The go-getter does business on the theory of today. If he can sell a safety razor today at 75 cents which sold for $5 two years ago an dmake a reasonable profit, he does so and gives the public the benefit of his wise purchasing.

The big fellows of today were go-getters a few years ago. The big fellows of tomorrow will be the go-getters of today.

The go-getters of every town and city will be found among those who advertise in the daily newspapers—those who recognize the faithful service to the public builds up greatest prestige for the future.

These men were the go-getters of their day and all built their marvelous institutions through advertising and sound salesmanship. Put your Xmas suggestions on the market now.

URGES SUPPORT FOR RED CROSS

GOVERNOR BLAINE ASKS CITIZENS OF WISCONSIN TO AID ORGANIZATION'S PEACE TIME PROGRAM

Madison, Wis., Nov. 12.—With the proclamation of Governor John J. Blaine urging Wisconsin residents to support the membership of the American Red Cross which opened on Armistice Day and continues until Thanksgiving, great impetus has been given the Roll Call in this state.

The governor's proclamation, just issued, states:

November 9, 1921.
Executive Chamber
Madison, Wisconsin.

The enrollment of membership in the American Red Cross is to occur in the period between Armistice Day, November 11, and Thanksgiving Day, November 24.

The humanitarian work of the Red Cross in the past years has been effective in the relief of the suffering, in public health education, in its aid to ex-service men, and in assisting in the relief occasioned by disasters through fire, flood, and cyclone.

The American Red Cross is now on a peace basis, so far as America is concerned, through its work overseas for afflicted children of the devasted regions and the famine sufferers is known and appreciated the world over. In Wisconsin, eighty-five Red Cross chapters are participating in this work. It makes an annual appeal for such support as the people, according to their means, can afford in making up their annual social service budget.

For these and many other reasons, I trust that the Red Cross Membership Campaign will receive the generous support of the people of our state in a way to maintain unimpaired work of this organization to meet the great emergencies in the future, if they occur, as it has met them in the past.

JOHN J. BLAINE
GOVERNOR.

There are 85 chapters here in Wisconsin which act a clearing house for community work. The continuance of work for ex-service men and their families, promotion of better health conditions and other local projects of widespread benefit will be financed by this Roll Call.

Miss Peterson enters upon her fourth season with the Metropolitan Opera Company. In electing Miss Peterson for the impersonation of at least five leading roles, the directors have once again recognized a rare American talent for which the country may well feel gratified. The roles contracted for Miss Peterson were: Lakme, Mimi in "La Boheme," Violetta in "Traviata," Michaela in "Carmen," and Manon in Massenet's "Manon." These she had sung more than fifty times during the seasons of 1913-1914 in the leading opera-houses of Europe, especially those of France. Her American operatic debut was notable for her remarkable poise, artistry and vocal beauty. It was during this very first season that one of the leading New York critics said of her on one occasion:

"She sang her aria and duet with Mr. Caruso better than it has been done at the Metropolitan in years. Not many voices stand out well in contrast with that of Mr. Caruso, but the duet was all to her credit."

UNIVERSITY TANK COACH SAYS SWIM AND BE BEAUTIFUL

TOM ROBINSON, VETERAN INSTRUCTOR, ADVISES GIRLS TO SEEK BEAUTY IN THE WATER

Chicago. Nov. 12.—Swim and grow beautiful is the advice of Coach Robinson, for eleven years acquatic instructor at Northwestern University, to his co-ed pupils. If. when a woman passes the prime of youth, she will indulge in swimming as an exercise, less cosmetics would be necessary to retain her beauty.

To support his theory, Coach Robinson today cited a long list of famous women from Venus down to Mary Garden and Annette Kellerman.

Natural beauty of features goes with a well rounded, perfectly developed body, he said. The average so-called beautiful face seen on the streets will not stand the test of swimming, water being fatal to Milady's make-up.

A well developed, slender waist line is a requisite in beauty, Robinson said, and swimming will bring about this without the aid of any boresome setting up exercises or other gymnasium work.

Gives Beauty of Body

If girls wish to obtain gracefullness and conqueror being awkward, diving is the thing, Robinson said.

"If you wish to become beautiful, swim and swim systematically," said Coach Robinson, who has been swimming coach at Northwestern for several years. He has been successful in developing championship swimming teams. Under his guidance, Northwestern has won thirty-five out of forty-one dual meets and six conference championships in eleven years. He has had hundreds of women and children in his classes and watched them develop physical and facial beauty.

"When we speak of the wonderful beauty of Venus, we are admiring the perfect physical lines as well as the facial features," Robinson said. "In a beauty contest the judges take into consideration height, weight, correct posture, and well-shaped hands and feet and good general development. A beautiful face is usually the result of a beautiful, well-rounded body. Mere facial beauty so often seen on the street is the result of much painstaking camouflaging with powder and paint. This wordly beauty is very easily erased by a dip in the pool or surf.

Good Weight Reducer

"A hollow chest is a very good sign of underdevelopment and tends to mar the physical charm of a girl, no matter how attractive and beautiful she may otherwise be. To correct this failing, then, I advise the breast stroke, because the outward movements used are excellent for developing a full chest, erect shoulders, and a straight back. As respiration is required with each stroke, one develops a regular breathing which is not forgotten immediately after the swimming exercise is concluded.

"Swimming is a good weight reducer as well as a weight developer. A slender waistline is a requisite in beauty, and swimming will bring about this result without the aid of any boresome setting up exercises as one must perform in a gymnasium. In other words, we have but to perform the act of swimming correctly which is a good amusement and a pleasure, and physical perfection is brought about incidentally. Swimming has the advantage over other athletics in that one is being water cooled and does not have to be bothered with the intense heat which accompanies other forms of athletics.

Start Early

"To attain the best results swimming should begin in childhood. The child who learns to swim when but a few years of age is sure to develop all parts of the body equally. Annette Kellerman, called one of the most perfectly formed women in the world, has been a swimmer most of her life, and attributes her form partly to regular swimming. She still swims systematically in order to retain her attractiveness. Mary Garden, director of the Chicago Opera Company recently made the statement that she swam a mile a day during the past summer at Monte Carlo. This was done to keep in a beautiful condition. Our leading stars in movieland make their daily dip and the result is that they are healthy, beautiful and have well-rounded muscles in every part of the body.

Robinson said in conclusion that many parents who have beautiful young, that is, who have beautiful faces, neglect to beautify their physical body. If they would require systematic and regualr swimming, the body development would keep pace with the facial attractiveness.

We wish to sit with you at the table of international understanding and good will. In good conscience, we are eager to meet you frankly, and invite and offer cooperation. The world demands a sober contemplation of the existing order and the realization that there can be no cure without sacrifice, not by one of us but by us all.

I don't mean surrendered rights, or narrowed freedom, or denied aspirations or ignored national necessities. Our republic would no more ask for that it would give. No pride need be humbled, no nationality submerged, but I would have a meeting of minds committing all of us to less preparation for war and more enjoyment of fortunate peace.

End Excessive Costs

The higher hopes come of the spirit of our coming together. It is but just to recognize varying needs and peculiar positions. Nothing can be accomplished in disregard of national apprehensions. Rather, we should set together to remove the causes of apprehensions. This is not to be done in intrigue. Greater assurance is found in the exchanges of simple honesty and directness, among men resolved to accomplish as becomes leaders among nations when civilization itself has come to its crucial test.

It is not to be challenged that government fails when the excess of its cost robs the people of the way to happiness and the opportunity to achieve. If the finer sentiments were not urging, the cold hard facts of excessive cost and the eloquences of economics would urge us to reduce our armaments. If the concept of a better order does not appeal, then let us ponder the burden and blight of continued competition.

Here In Good Faith

It is not to be denied that the world has swung along throughout the ages without heeding this call from the kindlier hearts of men. But the same world never was so tragically brought to a realization of the utter futility of passion's sway when reason and conscience and fellowship point a nobler way.

I can speak officially only for our United States. Our hundred million frankly want less of armament and none of war. Wholly free from guile, sure in our minds that we harbor no unworthy designs, we acredit the world with the same good intent. So I welcome you, not alone in good will and high purpose, but with high faith.

Have Common Cause

We are met for a service of making. In all simplicity, all honesty and honor, there may be written here the avowals of a world conscience refined by the consuming fires of war, and made more sensitive by the anxious after-math. I hope for that understanding which will emphasize the guaranteeless burdens and a better order which toes of peace and for commitments to will tranquilize the world. In such an accomplishment there will be added glory to your flags and and ours and the rejoicing of making will make the transcending of all succeeding time.

The Green Pea Pirates

By PETER B. KYNE

Author of "Webster—Man's Man," "The Valley of the Giants," Etc.

Copyright, by Peter B. Kyne

The enemy, meanwhile, had turned their attention upon Scraggs, who had dodged below like a frightened rabbit and sought shelter in the shaft alley. He had sufficient presence of mind, as he dashed through the engine room, to snatch a large monkey wrench off the tool rack on the wall, and, kneeling just inside the alley entrance he turned at bay and threatened the invaders with his weapon. Thereupon Hicks and Flaherty pelted him with lumps of coal, but the sole result of this assault was to force Scraggs further back into the shaft alley and out of range.

The towboat men held a council of war and decided to drown Scraggs out. Dan Hicks ran up on deck and returned dragging the deck fire hose behind him. He thrust the brass nozzle into the shaft-alley entrance and invited Scraggs to surrender unconditionally or be drowned like a kitten. Scraggs, knowing his own fire hose, defied them, so Dan Hicks started the pump while Flaherty turned on the water. Instantly the hose burst up on deck and Scraggs' jeers of triumph filled the engine room. The enemy was about to draw lots to see which one of the two should crawl into the shaft alley and throw a cupful of chloride of lime (for they found a can of this in the engine room) in Captain Scraggs' face, when a shadow darkened the hatch and Mr. Bartholomew McGuffey demanded belligerently: "What's goin' on down there? Who the devil's takin' liberties in my engine room?"

Dan Hicks explained the situation and the just cause for drastic action which they held against the fugitive in the shaft alley. Mr. McGuffey considered a few moments and made his decision.

"If what you say is true—an' I ain't in position to dispute you, not havin' been present when you hauled the Maggie off the beach, I don't blame you for feeling sore. What I do blame you for, though, is carryin' the war aboard the Maggie. If you wanted to whale Gib an' Scraggsy you should ha' laid for 'em on the dock. Under the circumstances, you make this a per's'nal affair, an' as a member o' the crew o' the Maggie I got to take a hand an' defend my skipper agin youse two. Fact is, gentlemen, I got a date to lick him first for what he done to me last night. Howsumever, that's a private grouch. The fact remains that you two jumped my pal Bert Gibney an' licked him somethin' scandalous. Hicks, I'll take you on first. Come up out of there, you swab, and fight. Flaherty, you stay below until I send for you; if you try to climb up an' horn in on my fight with Hicks, Gibney'll brain you."

"You're on, McGuffey. Nobody ever had to beg me to fight him." Dan Hicks replied cordially, and climbed to the deck. To his great surprise, Mr. McGuffey winked at him and drew him off to the stern of the Maggie.

RESOLUTION NO. 1

Resolved, that ordinance entitled "An Ordinance providing for the issue of $36,000 Waterworks Improvement Bonds of the City of Wisconsin Rapids, Wisconsin, and providing for the levy of taxes to pay the same," this day introduced, be taken up for final passage by the Common Council at the regular meeting thereof to be convened in the Council Chamber in the City Hall on Tuesday, the 6th day of December, 1921, at 8:00 o'clock p. m.:

Resolved Further, that the city clerk do publish in the Daily Tribune, the official newspaper of said city, at least one week prior to the date of the regular meeting whereas said proposed ordinance will be taken up for final passage, a notice in substantially the following form:

NOTICE

To the people and voters of the city of Wisconsin Rapids, Wisconsin.

Notice is hereby given that there has been introduced and is now pending in and before the Common Council of the City of Wisconsin Rapids, Wisconsin, and will, at a regular meeting of said Common Council, to be held in the council chamber in the city hall of and in said city on the 6th day of December, 1921, at 8 o'clock p. m., be called up for final reading and consideration and for passage, the following proposed ordinance, to-wit:

AN ORDINANCE providing for the issue of Thirty-six Thousand Dollars ($36,000) Water Works Improvement Bonds of the City of Wisconsin Rapids, Wood County, Wisconsin, and providing for the levy of taxes to pay the same.

WHEREAS, it is deemed necessary for the best interest of the citizens and residents of said City that extensions be made to the City water works plant and system, and that bonds of said City in the amount of Thirty-six Thousand Dollars ($36,000) be issued and sold to pay the cost of such improvements:

NOW, THEREFORE, the Common Council of the City of Wisconsin Rapids does ordain as follows:

Section 1. That for the purpose of providing funds to improve the City water works plant and system, there be borrowed upon the credit of said City the sum of Thirty-six Thousand Dollars ($36,000), and that bonds be issued therefor.

Section 2. That said bonds be designated Water Works Improvement Bonds, dated January 1, 1922, be of the denomination of One Thousand Dollars ($1,000) each, numbered from one to thirty-six, both included, and mature in numerical order $3,000 on the 1st day of each of the years 1927 to the 1938 years included. That [illegible] interest at the rate of six [illegible] per annum payable [illegible] 1, 1922, and semi-annually thereafter on the first day of March and of September of each year; that said bonds be signed by the Mayor and sealed with the corporate seal of said City and attested by the City Clerk thereof, and that the interest upon said bonds be evidenced by coupons thereto attached, maturing upon the several days when such interest matures, and that such coupons be signed by the said Mayor and City Clerk by their respective fac simile signatures, and said officers shall, by the execution of said bonds, adopt as and for their own proper signatures their respective fac simile signatures appearing on said coupons; that said bonds and coupons be payable at the office of the Treasurer of said City.

Section 3. That said bonds and coupons be in substantially the following forms:

GREET MISS PETERSON WITH ENTHUSIASM AT CONCERT AT OSHKOSH

Miss May Peterson of the Metropolitan Opera Company, who is to appear at the Port Edwards auditorium Tuesday evening, was given an enthusiastic reception by Oshkosh audiences, when she returned to her native city for a concert a short time ago. Miss Peterson was born in Oshkosh, and lived there until she departed to take up her career.

The following is an extract from the report of her concert carried by the Oshkosh Northwestern:

"Better than ever" was the unanimous verdict of the large and discriminating audience which greeted Miss May Peterson last evening at the Grand Opera house. Upon every one of her homecomings, Miss Peterson has been accorded a welcome which has spurred her on to her best endeavor, but last evening she fairly outdid herself, in every way.

It was one of the best programs she has presented. It was rendered in the highest degree of vocal perfection and she came back again and again, in response to recalls.

Singer is Generous

The program as outlined was long, there being seventeen numbers. In addition to that she sang thirteen times more, repeating seven of her selections and presenting six encore numbers. It was a severe and exacting experience, yet Miss Peterson did it gladly. Two of the encore numbers were given after the close of the program. All in all, it was a notably enjoyable affair, in which the girl of whom all Oshkosh is so proud appeared to share the enjoyment with those of her audience.

Every seat in the opera house was filled, even to the wall seats, and nearly 100 chairs were provided on the stage for the overflow. Those who sat back of the artist were made to feel her joy and enthusiasm, too. In six instances Miss Peterson, upon an insistent call for repetition turned about and sang to the audience on the stage. Even when she did so those sitting behind her in the main body of the house could distinguish practically every word.

THEATRES

DALY'S THEATER

Stage settings are often spoken of through our big productions as outshining all that has been done before. This is applied to Le Comte and Flesher's gorgeous musical fantasy, "Listen To Me," coming to Daly's Theater, Thursday night, Dec. 17.

Two acts and seven scenes are required to present this delightful musical fantasy. The play opens with a night of gaiety in Times Square, New York City. J. Lucifer Devil accompanied by his aid—the six temptations, mingle with the throng along Broadway. A transformation conveys the party to Hades, where Satan assigns punishment to the contemned. He divulges the secret to his scientific discovery obtained on earth and his lurid palace dissolves into the realm of ice and snow at the North Pole; gulfs becoming crests, craters changing to glaciers, and ovens to mountain peaks. The lurid glow softens into the pale silvery beams from the Aurora borealis which descends upon the fantastic land of the midnight sun with inspiring sentiment. This scene is followed by another transformation through the aid of novel electrical effects embracing the fairy like qualities of "Peter Pan" to entrancing candyland where wrongs are righted and estrangements reconciled. It requires tons of scenery, properties and electrical effects, with the aid of numerous mechanics to stage the wonderful scenes in this gorgeous extravaganza.

PREPARE FOR OPENING OF CURLING SEASON

Superior, Wis.—Cold weather which recently sent temperatures to the vicinity of the zero mark in the Head of the Lakes and iron range country, brought joy to followers of the game of curling, and already clubs in the various cities are preparing for the opening of the stone heaving season.

Just as soon as the present thin ice forms into thick, solid cakes, curling will begin in the outdoor as well as indoor rinks. Superior, Duluth, Hibbing, Eveleth, Virginia and Chisholm all have a large number of active curlers.

SCENE FROM "THE SON OF WALLINGFORD"

Over 15,000 gallons of oil were poured on an artificial lake 500 feet wide by 2,000 feet long which was constructed by Vitagraph for the special production, "The Son of Wallingford," at a cost of $20,000. The oil was set afire for a big spectacular scene in the production and burned for ten days steady. Flames twice the size of a man's body shot heavenward in great whirlpools. The hero and heroine were trapped in open boats in the middle of the lake. It is one of the most thrilling and best fire scenes ever transferred to film.

Copyright, by Peter B. Kyne

The enemy, meanwhile, had turned their attention upon Scraggs, who had dodged below like a frightened rabbit and sought shelter in the shaft alley. He had sufficient presence of mind, as he dashed through the engine room, to snatch a large monkey wrench off the tool rack on the wall, and, kneeling just inside the alley entrance he turned at bay and threatened the invaders with his weapon. Thereupon Hicks and Flaherty pelted him with lumps of coal, but the sole result of this assault was to force Scraggs further back into the shaft alley and out of range.

The towboat men held a council of war and decided to drown Scraggs out. Dan Hicks ran up on deck and returned dragging the deck fire hose behind him. He thrust the brass nozzle into the shaft-alley entrance and invited Scraggs to surrender unconditionally or be drowned like a kitten. Scraggs, knowing his own fire hose, defied them, so Dan Hicks started the pump while Flaherty turned on the water. Instantly the hose burst up on deck and Scraggs' jeers of triumph filled the engine room. The enemy was about to draw lots to see which one of the two should crawl into the shaft alley and throw a cupful of chloride of lime (for they found a can of this in the engine room) in Captain Scraggs' face, when a shadow darkened the hatch and Mr. Bartholomew McGuffey demanded belligerently: "What's goin' on down there? Who the devil's takin' liberties in my engine room?"

Dan Hicks explained the situation and the just cause for drastic action which they held against the fugitive in the shaft alley. Mr. McGuffey considered a few moments and made his decision.

"If what you say is true—an' I ain't in position to dispute you, not havin' been present when you hauled the Muggie off the beach, I don't blame you for feeling sore. What I do blame you for, though, is carryin' the war aboard the Muggie. If you wanted to whale Gib an' Scraggsy you should ha' laid for 'em on the dock. Under the circumstances, you make this a per's'nal affair, an' as a member o' the crew o' the Maggie I got to take a hand an' defend my skipper agin youse two. Fact is, gentlemen, I got a date to lick him first for what he done to me last night. Howsumever, that's a private grouch. The fact remains that you two jumped my pal Bert Gibney an' licked him somethin' scandalous. Hicks, I'll take you on first. Come up out of there, you swab, and fight. Flaherty, you stay below until I send for you; if you try to climb up an' horn in on my fight with Hicks, Gibney'll brain you."

"You're on, McGuffey. Nobody ever had to beg me to fight him," Dan Hicks replied cordially, and climbed to the deck. To his great surprise, Mr. McGuffey winked at him and drew him off to the stern of the Maggie.

COUNCIL PROCEEDINGS

Council Chambers, City Hall, Nov. 1, 1921, 8:00 p. m.

Council met in regular session, Mayor Chas. E. Briere, presiding. Aldermen John Bamberg, John Ernser, Fred Link, Jake Huber, Lacy Horton, John Roberts, O. R. Roenius, W. W. Rickman, James Lynch, P. Tomsyck, Otto Marx, M. C. Whitrock, F. H. Jackson, W. H. Gardner, Grant Babcock and Benjamin Hansen present.

On motion made, seconded and carried the reading of the minutes of the previous session were dispensed with.

Petition of the Wood County National Bank, Citizens National Bank and First National Bank that in view of the difference as to what is the rediscount rate, that they would recommend that the Council fix the standard rate on notes for six and one-half per cent (6½%) for the balance of the ensuing year. On motion petition was made and the legal rate for the city notes fixed at 6½%.

The Police and Fire Commission presented petition asking for two additional men and police clocks and it was duly moved and carried that the clocks be purchased. On roll call motion adopted and all aldermen voting aye.

It was duly moved and carried that the department be increased one man. Motion amended to increase to two men, which amendment was lost, and the original petition to increase to one man was adopted, Aldermen Bamberg, Ernser, Link, Huber, Horton, Roenius, Rickman, Tomsyck, Marx and Hansen voting "aye" and Roberts, Lynch, Whitrock, Jackson, Gardner and Babcock voting "no".

Motion duly made, seconded and carried that the Police and Fire Commission be requested to look up the cost of a fire alarm system and report, if possible, at the next meeting.

Resignation of Grant Babcock as alderman for the Eighth ward received and on motion the same was duly accepted. John Ostrowski and Lou Williams were then nominated as alderman to succeed Mr. Babcock and on ballot Mr. Ostrowski was elected to succeed Mr. Babcock for the unexpired term.

Proposed Ordinance No. ——— granting to the Wisconsin Northern Oil Company the right to build, maintain and construct, oil tanks and station in the City of Wisconsin Rapids duly presented and on motion Ordinance No. ——— was duly adopted on roll call, all Aldermen voting "aye."

Ordinance in full may be seen in published ordinance.

The following resolution was then presented to the Council by Alderman Lynch who moved its adoption, said resolution was duly seconded by Bamberg and after being read and considered by the Council said motion for adoption was duly put and adopted. All aldermen voting "aye" and no Aldermen voting "no". The mayor thereupon declared the following resolution duly adopted, said Resolution being as follows:

RESOLUTION NO. 1

Resolved, that ordinance entitled, "An Ordinance providing for the issue of $36,000 Waterworks Improvement Bonds of the City of Wisconsin Rapids, Wisconsin, and providing for the levy of taxes to pay the same," this day introduced, be taken up for final passage by the Common Council at the regular meeting thereof to be convened in the Council Chamber in the City Hall on Tuesday, the 6th day of December, 1921, at 8:00 o'clock p. m.

Resolved Further, that the city clerk do publish in the Daily Tribune, the official newspaper of said city, at least one week prior to the date of the regular meeting whereas said proposed ordinance will be taken up for final passage, a notice in substantially the following form:

NOTICE

To the people and voters of the city of Wisconsin Rapids, Wisconsin.

Notice is hereby given that there has been introduced and is now pending in and before the Common Council of the City of Wisconsin Rapids, Wisconsin, and will, at a regular meeting of said Common Council, to be held in the council chamber in the city hall of and in said city on the 6th day of December, 1921, at 8 o'clock p. m., be called up for final reading and consideration and for passage, the following proposed ordinance, towit:

AN ORDINANCE providing for the issue of Thirty-six Thousand Dollars ($36,000) Water Works Improvement Bonds of the City of Wisconsin Rapids, Wood County, Wisconsin, and providing for the levy of taxes to pay the same.

WHEREAS, it is deemed necessary for the best interest of the citizens and residents of said City that extensions be made to the City water works plant and system, and that bonds of said City in the amount of Thirty-six Thousand Dollars ($36,000) be issued and sold to pay the cost of such improvements:

NOW, THEREFORE, the Common Council of the City of Wisconsin Rapids does ordain as follows:

Section 1. That for the purpose of providing funds to improve the City water works plant and system, there be borrowed upon the credit of said City the sum of Thirty-six Thousand Dollars ($36,000), and that bonds be issued therefor.

Section 2. That said bonds be designated Water Works Improvement Bonds, be dated January 1, 1922, be of the denomination of One Thousand Dollars ($1000) each, numbered from one to thirty-six, both included, and mature in numerical order $3,000 on March 1st of each of the years 1925 to 1936, both years included. That said bonds bear interest at the rate of six percent per annum, payable September 1, 1922, and semi-annually thereafter on the first day of March and of September of each year; that said bonds be signed by the Mayor and sealed with the corporate seal of said City and attested by the City Clerk thereof, and that the interest upon said bonds be evidenced by coupons thereto attached, maturing upon the several days when such interest matures, and that such coupons be signed by the said Mayor and City COUNCIL PROCEED galley two Clerk by their respective fac simile signatures, and said officers shall, by the execution of said bonds, adopt as and for their own proper signatures their respective fac simile signatures appearing on said coupons; that said bonds and coupons be payable at the office of the Treasurer of said City.

Section 3. That said bonds and coupons be in substantially the following forms:

Who's Who In Wisconsin Rapids

The Who's Who column will be run each Saturday in the Wisconsin Rapids Daily Tribune. It will include a brief sketch of the life of citizens who have helped make history for Wisconsin Rapids.

Sam Church

Sam Church, county clerk and prominent Wisconsin Rapids business man was born in Flamboro, Ontario, Canada, December 18, 1868, the son of Mr. and Mrs. William Church. He received his early education in the country schools in Canada and finished his high school education at the age of 15 years in the Watertown, Ont., high school. Following his graduation he returned to the family farm for two years.

Became Telegrapher

While at Iona, Ontario, Mr. Church learned telegraphy and was employed as railroad telegrapher on the Michigan Central lines, later becoming a "tramp telegrapher operator" going from place to place with the Michigan Central, Grand Rapids and Indiana, and the Chicago, Milwaukee and St. Paul, Soo, Big Rapids, Pere Marquette, South Pacific and Colorado Midland railroads. His travels took him throughout the western states and to the Pacific coast and provided him with fine experience to meet an i know people.

Returned to Michigan

After spending one year at Hagerstrom, Colorado, with the Colorado Midland, Mr. Church returned to Midland, Mich., where he was united in marriage to Lucetta C. Hitchcock. They spent the following winter in Pomona, Cal., returning to Baraboo, Wisconsin in May, 1893, when Mr. Church entered the drug business as a clerk in the C. H. Evenson drug store where he remained three years. Later he went to Rhinelander to accept a similar position with the A. H. Marcks drug store in that place, where he remained eighteen months, later to leave for Oconomowoc where he remained a year at the C. F. Kellogg drug store in that city.

Came Here Stranger

On Sept. 11, 1898 when the west side of the city of Wisconsin Rapids was Centralia and the east side was Grand Rapids, a stranger came to town. He was Sam Church, looking for a location for a drug store. He did not know a single resident but he soon found his place and started out in business in the MacKinnon building, later moving his store to the present location in the Siewert building on the corner of Grand and Third avenues. Since coming here he has built up a splendid business.

Elected Clerk Three Times

Mr. Church has made a host of friends in Wisconsin Rapids since coming here in 1898 and his friends and all the people have expressed their confidence in his ability to serve them not only in the retail business in which he is engaged, but he was elected to serve as city treasurer for four years and in 1916 he was chosen county clerk by a large majority, being re-elected again to two more terms in the elections of 1918 and 1920. He has filled his offices in his characteristic efficient way and his clean cut business like methods have won for him a large following throughout the city and county as evidenced by the splendid majorities he has received when running for public office. He is a faithful public servant.

Is Lodge Man

Besides caring for the office of county clerk and managing his drug business, Mr. Church has found ample time to devote to several lodges of which he is a member. He is prominent in the social and lodge affairs of the Masonic lodge, where he has held the position of head of the lodge, in the Elks where he served as secretary for several years, in the Order of Eastern Star and the Rotary club.

Mr. and Mrs. Church have been active in the lodge and other social affairs of the city. They have one daughter, Mrs. George Bronson of this city.

Likes Outdoor Life

In spite of the confining duties of his office and his business, Mr. Church finds time to be a devotee of the out-of-doors, spending time in hunting and fishing and is an enthusiastic member of the Crooked Rift rod and reel club.

"Sam" is the only way Mr. Church is spoken of. The name "Mr. Church" is seldom heard, for he is Sam Church to everyone. He is a keenly democratic fellow, of cheerful and sunny disposition and of pleasing manner. He is an ardent follower of athletics among the high school and amateur teams here and enjoys the man's kind of a man's game. His patriotism and Americanism is of the highest calibre and he sticks by what he believes is right. He is of conservative nature, a good substantial booster, a hard worker and a loyal friend.

SUPERIOR TO MEET MARINETTE FOR TITLE

Superior, Wis.—Superior Central high school, football champions of Wisconsin in 1920, will defend its title against the undefeated Marinette high school eleven. The game is scheduled to be played at Marinette, Saturday, Nov. 19.

Superior was guaranteed $600 for expenses to play at the southern Wisconsin city. Marinette requested that the game be played there because of the team's record of victories which is said to be more impressive than that of the local high school.

Having won three and lost only one game, Superior Central is tied with Duluth and Duluth Cathedral for premier honors of the Head of the Lakes scholastic conference.

Many of the veterans of Coach Carson's championship 1920 team are missing this year, but he is staunch in the belief that the local team will repeat its performance of last season when it trounced every Wisconsin opponent.

A professor says the great American romance is yet to come. So every young girl believes.

Rapids Loses Heartbreaking Game To Marshfield Eleven

The lowly Marshfielders took the Wisconsin Rapids high school football warriors to a 7-0 defeat on the Central Wisconsin Fairgrounds in the Armistice Day game at Marshfield yesterday. It was a hard fought game and a heartbreaker at the same time, with the Rapids team deserving to win, although the Marshfield team took the victory. Playing under conditions which were anything but favorable to either team, the game was replete with thrills and would have been an interesting game for the large number of spectators, had the weather man been kind enough to grant a warmer day for the event. The interest in the game did not lag one minute and until the final whistle, after darkness had set in, the result was doubtful as the Rapids made a desperate attempt to score the tying touchdown.

Marshfield Scored Early

Marshfield kicked off, Robinson making a good return. It soon became aparent that consistent ground gaining was impossible and the Ritchaymen were forced to punt. Marshfield seized an opportunity and worked several good forward passes during the first few minutes of the first period. On a long pass Anderson to Abbott, the Marshfield scored the one and only count of the game. Anderson kicked goal. The foe looked like big ten style at the opening and made many desperate attempts to continue the lead they had but the Rapids held solid and broke up the plays. After the first quarter start, the Marshfield rooters were counting touchdowns by the score and were disappointed after the first attack fizzled out, although Marshfield backfield made several good runs during the course of the game.

Rapids Threatened

After having their goal crossed the Rapids men bolstered up and menaced the Marshfield goal with several atempts for a touchdown, only to lose out within striking distance of the line. Field judgement occasionally called for straight football when it would work but one corner of the field was a sheet of ice and no headway could be made. During the second, third and fourth quarters the Rapids men carried the ball to the Marshfield territory which was quite uncomfortable for the defenders and the scoring seemed inevitable, but the locals lacked the punch and the luck to put it across.

Make Twilight Rally

The fourth quarter of the game was a thriller for the large number of Rapids rooters. Consistent gains by Nobles, Hougen, R. LeRoux and Nason, brought the ball to the Marshfield three yard line. When one more plunge would have put the ball across on the last down the foe held. Again and again the Rapids ran the ball into the Marshfield territory only to lose it by being held and by fumbling. The oval was soaking wet and cold and hard to retain in the hands. The desperate fight and the pluck and grit which all the Rapids men showed all through the last two periods made a hit with the local boosters. It was generally agreed that the locals had the edge on the Marshfielders and that the boys should have brought home the bacon. The last ten minutes of play was under very adverse conditions, with the thermometer hovering around near zero and darkness covering their movements, both teams were under a serious handicap.

Field Overflowed

The fair grounds field was high grass in one section and snow had drifted onto the field in other places, at one corner it was slippery as a skating rink and to make matters worse the field was not level. The sharp wind whistling across the fair grounds and the snow underfoot made it almost nobody's game. R. LeRoux was attacked after the game by a crowd of spectators who were angered apparently by too much "hot stuff." Throughout the game the spectators crowded onto the field in spite of the appeals of the Marshfield guards and coach. The flimsy wire fence around the field did not keep the crowds off. The lineups are as follows:

Wis. Rapids. 0.	Marshfield. 7.
Witter, L.G.	Wagner, L.G.
Schnabel, C.	Teska, C.
Conway, R.G.	Counsel, R.G.
L. LeRoux, R.T.	Esser, R.T.
R. LeRoux, F.	Adler, F.
Hougen, Q.	Anderson, Q.
Nobles, R.H.	Witte, R.H.
Nason, L.H.	Koenig, L.H.

RAPIDS SECONDS PLAY TO A SCORELESS TIE

The opener of the Armistice Day doubleheader between the Wisconsin Rapids and Marshfield seconds was a close match. They played a scoreless tie which did not detract anything from the interest in the curtain raiser. The locals with Matthews starring at quarterback made some handsome plays and acquitted themselves with a great deal of credit against their foe. The locals had the advantage, being lighter and faster, but on account of the slippery field did not make substantial getaways on their runs as they might have.

SUGGEST RICHARDS AS STATE FOOTBALL ARBITER

Stevens Point—Carl G. Olson, coach at the local high school, offers a solution to the annual state high school football championship wrangle in the formation of four or five conferences of the strongest elevens in the state, with a man at the head to settle all differences between teams and keep the game on a high level of sportsmanship. Olson suggests Coach John Richards of the University of Wisconsin to be for football in Wisconsin high schools what Judge Landis is for baseball. The conference season could start earlier in the year, according to the local coach, so that there would be time to play elimination games and definitely decide the state title holder.

Miss May Peterson of the Metropolitan Opera Company, who is to appear at the Port Edwards auditorium Tuesday evening, was given an enthusiastic reception by Oshkosh audiences, when she returned to her native city for a concert a short time ago. Miss Peterson was born in Oshkosh, and lived there until she departed to take up her career.

The following is an extract from the report of her concert carried by the Oshkosh Northwestern:

"Better than ever" was the unanimous verdict of the large and discriminating audience which greeted Miss May Peterson last evening at the Grand Opera house. Upon every one of her homecomings, Miss Peterson has been accorded a welcome which has spurred her on to her best endeavor, but last evening she fairly, outdid herself, in every way.

It was one of the best programs she has presented. It was rendered in the highest degree of vocal perfection and she came back again and again, in response to recalls.

Singer is Generous

The program as outlined was long, there being seventeen numbers. In addition to that she sang thirteen times more, repeating seven of her selections and presenting six encore numbers. It was a severe and exacting experience, yet Miss Peterson did it gladly. Two of the encore numbers were given after the close of the program. All in all, it was a notably enjoyable affair, in which the girl of whom all Oshkosh is so proud, appeared to share the enjoyment with those of her audience.

Every seat in the opera house was filled, even to the wall seats, and nearly 100 chairs were provided on the stage for the overflow. Those who sat back of the artist were made to feel her joy and enthusiasm, too. In six instances Miss Peterson, upon an insistent call for repetition, turned about and sang to the audience on the stage. Even when she did so those sitting behind her in the main body of the house could distinguish practically every word.

THEATRES

DALY'S THEATER

Stage settings are often spoken of through our big productions as outshining all that has been done before. This is applied to Le Comte and Flesher's gorgeous musical fantasy, "Listen To Me," coming to Daly's Theater, Thursday night, Dec. 17.

Two acts and seven scenes are required to present this delightful musical fantasy. The play opens with a night of gaiety in Times Square, New York City. J. Lucifer Devil accompanied by his aid—the six temptations, mingle with the throng along Broadway. A transformation conveys the party to Hades, where Satan assigns punishment to the contemned. He divulges the secret to his scientific discovery obtained on earth and his lurid palace dissolves into the realm of ice and snow at the North Pole; gulfs becoming crests, craters changing to glaciers, and ovens to mountain peaks. The lurid glow softens into the pale silvery beams from the Aurora borealis which descends upon the fantastic land of the midnight sun with inspiring sentiment. This scene is followed by another transformation through the aid of novel electrical effects embracing the fairy like qualities of "Peter Pan" to entrancing candyland where wrongs are righted and estrangements reconciled. It requires tons of scenery, properties and electrical effects, with the aid of numerous mechanics to stage the wonderful scenes in this gorgeous extravaganza.

Who's Who In Wisconsin Rapids

The Who's Who column will be run each Saturday in the Wisconsin Rapids Daily Tribune. It will include a brief sketch of the life of citizens who have helped make history for Wisconsin Rapids.

Sam Church

Sam Church, county clerk and prominent Wisconsin Rapids business man was born in Flamboro, Ontario, Canada, December 18, 1868, the son of Mr. and Mrs. William Church. He received his early education in the country schools in Canada and finished his high school education at the age of 15 years in the Watertown, Ont., high school. Following his graduation he returned to the family farm for two years.

Became Telegrapher

While at Iona, Ontario, Mr. Church learned telegraphy and was employed as railroad telegrapher on the Michigan Central lines, later becoming a "tramp telegrapher operator" going from place to place with the Michigan Central, Grand Rapids and Indiana, and the Chicago, Milwaukee and St. Paul, Soo, Big Rapids, Pere Marquette, South Pacific and Colorado Midland railroads. His travels took him throughout the western states and to the Pacific coast and provided him with fine experience to meet and know people.

Returned to Michigan

After spending one year at Hagerstrom, Colorado, with the Colorado Midland, Mr. Church returned to Midland, Mich., where he was united in marriage to Lucetta C. Hitchcock. They spent the following winter in Pomona, Cal., returning to Baraboo, Wisconsin in May, 1893, when Mr. Church entered the drug business as a clerk in the C. H. Evenson drug store where he remained three years. Later he went to Rhinelander to accept a similar position with the A. H. Marcks drug store in that place, where he remained eighteen months, later to leave for Oconomowoc where he remained a year at the C. F. Kellogg drug store in that city.

Came Here Stranger

On Sept. 11, 1898 when the west side of the city of Wisconsin Rapids was Centralia and the east side was Grand Rapids, a stranger came to town. He was Sam Church, looking for a location for a drug store. He did not know a single resident but he soon found his place and started out in business in the MacKinnon building, later moving his store to the present location in the Siewert building on the corner of Grand and Third avenues. Since coming here he has built up a splendid business.

Elected Clerk Three Times

Mr. Church has made a host of friends in Wisconsin Rapids since coming here in 1898 and his friends and all the people have expressed their confidence in his ability to serve them not only in the retail business in which he is engaged, but he was elected to serve as city treasurer for four years and in 1916 he was chosen county clerk by a large majority, being re-elected again to two more terms in the elections of 1918 and 1920. He has filled his offices in his characteristic efficient way and his clean cut business like methods have won for him a large following throughout the city and county as evidenced by the splendid majorities he has received when running for public office. He is a faithful public servant.

Is Lodge Man

Besides caring for the office of county clerk and managing his drug business, Mr. Church has found ample time to devote to several lodges of which he is a member. He is prominent in the social and lodge affairs of the Masonic lodge, where he has held the position of head of the lodge, to the Elks where he served as secretary for several years, in the Order of Eastern Star and the Rotary club.

Mr. and Mrs. Church have been active in the lodge and other social affairs of the city. They have one daughter, Mrs. George Bronson of this city.

Likes Outdoor Life

In spite of the confining duties of his office and his business, Mr. Church finds time to be a devotee of the out-of-doors, spending time in hunting and fishing and is an enthusiastic member of the Crooked Rift rod and reel club.

"Sam" is the only way Mr. Church is spoken of. The name "Mr. Church" is seldom heard, for he is Sam Church to everyone. He is a keenly democratic fellow, of cheerful and sunny disposition and of pleasing manner. He is an ardent follower of athletics among the high school and amateur teams here and enjoys the man's kind of a man's game. His patriotism and Americanism is of the highest calibre and he sticks by what he believes is right. He is of conservative nature, a good substantial booster, a hard worker and a loyal friend.

SUPERIOR TO MEET MARINETTE FOR TITLE

Superior, Wis.—Superior Central high school, football champions of Wisconsin in 1920, will defend its title against the undefeated Marinette high school eleven. The game is scheduled to be played at Marinette, Saturday, Nov. 19.

Superior was guaranteed $600 for expenses to play at the southern Wisconsin city. Marinette requested that the game be played there because of the team's record of victories which is said to be more impressive than that of the local high school.

Having won three and lost only one game, Superior Central is tied with Duluth and Duluth Cathedral for premier honors of the Head of the Lakes scholastic conference.

Many of the veterans of Coach Carson's championship 1920 team are missing this year, but he is staunch in the belief that the local team will repeat its performance of last season when it trounced every Wisconsin opponent.

A professor says the great American romance is yet to come. So every young girl believes.

Rapids Loses Heartbreaking Game To Marshfield Eleven

The lowly Marshfielders took the Wisconsin Rapids high school football warriors to a 7-0 defeat on the Central Wisconsin Fairgrounds in the Armistice Day game at Marshfield yesterday. It was a hard fought game and a heartbreaker at the same time, with the Rapids team deserving to win, although the Marshfield team took the victory. Playing under conditions which were anything but favorable to either team, the game was replete with thrills and would have been an interesting game for the large number of spectators, had the weather man been kind enough to grant a warmer day for the event. The interest in the game did not lag one minute and until the final whistle, after darkness had set in, the result was doubtful as the Rapids made a desperate attempt to score the tying touchdown.

Marshfield Scored Early

Marshfield kicked off, Robinson making a good return. It soon became aparent that consistent ground gaining was impossible and the Ritchaymen were forced to punt. Marshfield seized an opportunity and worked several good forward passes during the first few minutes of the first period. On a long pass Anderson to Abbott, the Marshfield scored the one and only count of the game. Anderson kicked goal. The foe looked like big ten style at the opening and made many desperate attempts to continue the lead they had but the Rapids held solid and broke up the plays. After the first quarter start, the Marshfield rooters were counting touchdowns by the score and were disappointed after the first attack fizzled out, although Marshfield backfield made several good runs during the course of the game.

Rapids Threatened

After having their goal crossed the Rapids men bolstered up and menaced the Marshfield goal with several atempts for a touchdown, only to lose out within striking distance of the line. Field judgement occasionally called for straight football when it would work but one corner of the field was a sheet of ice and no headway could be made. During the second, third and fourth quarters the Rapids men carried the ball to the Marshfield territory which was quite uncomfortable for the defenders and the scoring seemed inevitable, but the locals lacked the punch and the luck to put it across.

Make Twilight Rally

The fourth quarter of the game was a thriller for the large number of Rapids rooters. Consistent gains by Nobles, Hougen, R. LeRoux and Nason, brought the ball to the Marshfield three yard line. When one more plunge would have put the ball across on the last down the foe held. Again and again the Rapids ran the ball into the Marshfield territory only to lose it by being held and by fumbling. The oval was soaking wet and cold and hard to retain in the hands. The desperate fight and the pluck and grit which all the Rapids men showed all through the last two periods made a hit with the local boosters. It was generally agreed that the locals had the edge on the Marshfielders and that the boys should have brought home the bacon. The last ten minutes of play was under very adverse conditions, with the thermometer hovering around near zero and darkness covering their movements, both teams were under a serious handicap.

Field Overflowed

The fair grounds field was high grass in one section and snow had drifted onto the field in other places, at one corner it was slippery as a skating rink and to make matters worse the field was not level. The sharp wind whistling across the fair grounds and the snow underfoot made it almost nobody's game. R. LeRoux was attacked after the game by a crowd of spectators who were angered apparently by too much "hot stuff." Throughout the game the spectators crowded onto the field in spite of the appeals of the Marshfield guards and coach. The flimsy wire fence around the field did not keep the crowds off. The lineups are as follows:

Wis. Rapids, 0.	Marshfield, 7.
Witter, L.G.	Wagner, L.G.
Schmabel, C.	Teska, C.
Conway, R.G.	Counsel, R.G.
L. LeRoux, R.T.	Esser, R.T.
R. LeRoux, F.	Adler, F.
Hougen, Q.	Anderson, Q.
Nobles, R.H.	Witte, R.H.
Nason, L.H.	Koenig, L.H.

RAPIDS SECONDS PLAY TO A SCORELESS TIE

The opener of the Armistice Day doubleheader between the Wisconsin Rapids and Marshfield seconds was a close match. They played a scoreless tie which did not detract anything from the interest in the curtain raiser. The locals with Matthews starring at quarterback made some handsome plays and acquitted themselves with a great deal of credit against their foe. The locals had the advantage, being lighter and faster, but on account of the slippery field did not make substantial getaways on their runs as they might have.

SUGGEST RICHARDS AS STATE FOOTBALL ARBITER

Stevens Point—Carl G. Olson, coach at the local high school, offers a solution to the annual state high school football championship wrangle in the formation of four or five conferences of the strongest elevens in the state, with a man at the head to settle all differences between teams and keep the game on a high level of sportsmanship. Olson suggests Coach John Richards of the University of Wisconsin to be for football in Wisconsin high schools what Judge Landis is for baseball. The conference season could start earlier in the year, according to the local coach, so that there would be time to play elimination games and definitely decide the state title holder.
